Sensory Integration

Sensory integration is the process by which we receive information through our senses, organize this information, and use it to participate in everyday activities.

Presented by Cori Leshar, Program Coordinator from the Central Early Childhood Direction Center.

- Learn more about the sensory integration process.
- Learn what activities can be employed in the classroom and at home to help build sensory integrative skills.
- Make a sensory tool to use at home or in the classroom.
- Leave with directions on how to make other sensory tools.
